MEN'S EHF EURO 2022
HUNGARY • SLOVAKIA

THE FIRST

„It's a huge thing in an athlete's life to be able to play at home in a world competition.”
(László Nagy)

Hungary (and co-organizer Slovakia) may host the European Men's Handball Championship for the first time in January 2022. The best European teams in the women's field have already visited Hungary twice, we organized the European Championship in 2004 and 2014 (together with Croatia), and in 1982 and in 1995 (with Austria) we hosted the World Championship.

But the real pinnacle of handball will visit us in 2022, the best of the men will come to us for the first time: 24 national teams will compete in five venues.

EHF EURO 2022

The 15th European Men's Handball Championship will be co-organized by Hungary and Slovakia from 13 to 30 January 2022.

Both nations will host the best handball players in Europe for the first time, this will be the second time the continent tournament will be held in a shared order.

The first European Championships were held in 1994 in Portugal – with 12 teams – and until 2018, the tournament was always hosted by a different country. In 2020, however, three nations, Sweden, Austria and Norway, hosted the European Championship, the first event, which was no longer attended by 16 but by 24 teams.

QUALIFICATION FOR THE EUROPEAN CHAMPIONSHIP

The qualification series for the tournament took place between January 2019 and May 2021. The two organizers, Hungary and Slovakia, as well as the two finalists from the previous European Championships, the gold medalist Spain and the silver medalist Croatia, are individual participants of the tournament; so teams from 44 nations fought for the remaining 20 places.

In the last stage of the qualification system the 32 teams were split into eight groups of four (the group drawn was held 20 June 2020), with the winners and runners-up qualifying for the EC, together with the four best third-placed teams.

(The four individual participants of the tournament played matches in the Euro Cup, a new series announced by the European Federation before the previous Championships).
